Chamber Of Commerce Annual Banquet Held At 4-H And Grange

Dr. Andrew Holt, was the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night. Dr. Holt is president emeritus of the University of Tennessee. He held the position of president for 11 years.

Holt's talk to the group of Chamber members and their guests assembled at the 4-H and Grange Building was both light-hearted and thought-provoking. He entitled his speech "Friendly Faces" and said the friendly face sets the tone for the home, an audience, international affairs, community, business and a chamber of commerce. He continued that the source of a friendly face was a friendly heart and he had found several in this area.

The speaker complimented the members on the community of Circleville and said it had all the things he would be proud to have in his own home town.

In addition to his list of educational endeavors, Holt has an impressive number of other distinctions associated with his name. He has spoken in nearly every state in the United States and several foreign countries.

He concluded his speech by saying that he had felt most welcome in this community and hoped to return some day. Dr. Holt and his wife are residents of Memphis, Tenn.

George Hamrick served as master of ceremonies for the evening and David Frazer, pastor at the Community United Methodist Church, gave the invocation.

Special guests at the dinner meeting included Norman Baker, vice-president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, and State Senator Oakley Collins.

Outgoing Chamber president, Dan Hindy spoke briefly at the beginning of the meeting and thanked several Chamber members for making the meeting possible. James Butler was in charge of obtaining Dr. Holt as speaker and George Hritz and Calvin Danford were chairmen of ticket sales. Dick Shaw was also on the program committee.

The Chamber's executive director, Jean Ankrom was applauded for her services.

Brown May Step Aside In GOP's Legal Battle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William J. Brown says he'll be happy to discuss with GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes the possibility of someone other than Brown representing Rhodes in an upcoming court battle.

Brown, a Democrat, told the newly elected governor in a letter Wednesday he would meet at Rhodes' "earliest convenience" in connection with GOP challenges of six bills majority Democrats sped through last week before Rhodes was inaugurated.

John M. McElroy, Rhodes' chief aide, said his boss asked Brown not only to appoint special counsel, but also to let the governor make the nomination — in effect, to pick his own lawyer.

The attorney general normally acts as counsel in matters of litigation involving other state officials.

However, Brown has been acting on behalf of Democratic legislative leaders seeking to defend the validity of the controversial bills. Rhodes told Brown in his request that the two of them have interests in the case which are "adverse."

Rhodes said he also had been formally notified he is a defendant in the declaratory judgment action filed Monday in Franklin County Common Pleas Court by Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati.

Hindy introduced the committee chairmen who served in 1974 and the outgoing members of the board of directors.

Outgoing members included John Stevenson, Bob Moon, Don Thompson, Gene Wilson and Nelson Embrey.

The past-president concluded his comments by saying he expected this year to be better than ever.

T. D. Van Camp, the 1975 president of the Chamber, thanked Hindy for his services as president and presented him with a plaque commemorating that service.

Van Camp then introduced the 1975 board of directors and the committee chairmen. New directors are Dr. Nancy Lu Conrad, Asa Elsea, Steve Stevenson, Red Wilson and Michael Harrison.

The following Chamber members have been appointed to chair committees this year: George Hamrick, agri-business; Richard Gerhardt, area development; Earl Palm, budget and finance; Ned Harden, city-county planning; Larry Plum, education; Dr. Conrad, health; Stevenson and Bill Stout, legislative; Jo Ann Brink, membership; Nelson Embrey, public relations; Rosemary Linn, retail merchants; Asa Elsea, safety.

The new president said the committee chairmen and their members worked for the entire Chamber. Van Camp urged all Chamber members to work on the committee of their choice.

He went on to say that Pickaway County is a very typical community complete with industry, agriculture, commerce and education. He then commented on the national problems and how the restoration of confidence in our government will come about.

Two of the major problems cited by Van Camp were inflation and the conservation of energy. He was hopeful that by early summer these problems will give the people of the nation a feeling of new self-worth through their responsible action to combat them.

Van Camp concluded by saying he hopes to see a stop-and-turn-around situation and that Pickaway County will be one of the first areas to see it.

The annual dinner was catered by members of Hedges Chapel.

Maloney's suit seeks to enjoin the governor and other state and local officials from implementing the bills on grounds they were enacted unconstitutionally.

Among other things, it cites the lack of the signature of the lieutenant governor. Former Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, a Republican, refused to sign, but former Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan affixed his signature anyway.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, a Republican, refused to accept the bills for filing when they were delivered by Gilligan representatives after Rhodes had been sworn in. Instead, he sent them to Rhodes who placed them in McElroy's custody.

McElroy said Wednesday the bills will remain where they are until he is directed by the courts as to what to do with them. He sent that word to clerks of the Senate and House, who had said earlier they would refuse to take them back.

The highly travelled bills create new congressional districts more to Democratic advantage, save about 300 patronage jobs, curb the powers of the secretary of state, and otherwise represent changes Democrats sought during an odd one-week transitional period in which they controlled the governor's office and both chambers of the legislature as well.

Postal Service Dispute Could Bring Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Letter carriers are threatening a nationwide strike in March if the U.S. Postal Service implements a new delivery system designed to increase efficiency but which union leaders say will eliminate 15,000 jobs.

The National Association of Letter Carriers has sent letters to all locals urging its nearly 200,000 members to prepare for "the possibility of a national job action as a result of implementation of computerized route adjustments contrary to the best interest and welfare of our membership."

The union says the new system would turn its men into "robots" and slow the mail by overburdening mail carriers.

Postal officials charge the union is formulating "a nationally organized plan to soften the public and the press for a possible illegal strike against the government."

A strike, if it comes, would be the first against the postal system since the historic walkout of March 1970 when federal troops were called in to help deliver the mails. The walkout helped lead to the reorganization of the Post Office Department as an independent semigovernment agency.

Strikes are prohibited against the government, but President James H. Rademacher of the letter carriers says, "We are willing to risk the consequences."

"I'm hoping they (Postal Service officials) will back off and listen to reason," Rademacher said in an interview. "But I've got a mandate and no choice but to strike."

Letter carriers at their Seattle convention last August voted overwhelmingly to strike the Postal Service if new work standards now being tested at Kokomo, Ind., are put into effect.

Postal officials say the Kokomo plan, officially known as the Letter Carrier Route Evaluation System, was developed to measure individual carriers' performance so that more efficient routes can be established.

However, before the pilot program can be implemented nationwide, postal officials agreed to discuss the Kokomo results with union officials after March 1.

But Rademacher says the Postal Service appears ready to go ahead with the Kokomo plan regardless of the results. He contends that 15,000 jobs will be eliminated with the same volume of mail to be handled by fewer people.

James C. Gildea, assistant postmaster general for labor relations, said in a separate interview that the union is drawing conclusions to questions that haven't been answered yet. "I don't see how Rademacher can say jobs are going to be eliminated," Gildea said. "We may be adding carriers around the country."

Emergency Jobless Bill Clears Hurdle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jobless Ohioans who have exhausted their regular 26 weeks of unemployment benefits could get 26 more under an emergency bill now past its first hurdle in the General Assembly.

The Senate Commerce and Labor Committee recommended passage 7-0 Wednesday of the bill which, if enacted by Jan. 26, will provide an initial extension of 13 weeks.

Beman Pound, director of the Unemployment Compensation Division, said that extension would trigger an additional 13 weeks of emergency benefits paid for fully with federal funds for those who continue unemployed, giving them a year's benefits in all.

Committee Chairman Donald L. Woodland, D-16 Columbus, said the measure has bipartisan support, and that he expects the Senate to pass it and send it to the House no later than next Tuesday.

Both chambers held routine floor sessions Wednesday. The Senate adjourned until 7:30 p.m. Monday, while the House will quit for the weekend today after a brief skeleton session. It returns at 11 a.m., Tuesday.

In other developments, Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-89 Bourneville, of the House Finance Committee said hearings will begin Tuesday on an emergency bill to appropriate a highly publicized, $91.3 million state budget surplus for Ohio's strike and money-troubled school districts.

Senate Finance Chairman Harry Meshe, D-33 Youngstown, said simultaneous hearings on an identical measure will get under way in the upper chamber.

Majority Democrats said they hope, with the cooperation of GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes, to give all school district a $40-per-pupil shot in the arm in March—at least three months ahead of the 1975-1977 budget bill. The state's fiscal biennium ends June 30.

As part of his campaign platform, Rhodes pledged to work with the legislature in earmarking the surplus funds for elementary and secondary education.

The unemployment compensation bill apparently will become the first enactment of the Democrat-controlled legislature to win support of the other party.

Actually, the jobless pay extender was part of one of six bills signed at Democratic former Gov. John J. Gilligan before he left office Monday.

However, it is under court attack along with the other measures which Republicans contend were "steam rolled" through the legislature in violation of constitutional procedures.

Woodland said the pending bill would prevail, regardless of the fate of the earlier legislation.

Republicans opposed the earlier measure because it was tied to a Democratic proposal to qualify workers idled by strikes elsewhere "and through no fault of their own" for unemployment benefits.

GOP opponents said language in the proposal would amount to subsidizing "wildcat strikes" in the same plant.

Strikes by key employees on an assembly line, as an example, they said, could qualify others on the assembly line who would be idled through "no fault of their own."

New bills received in the two chambers Wednesday would repeal the five per cent intangibles tax on stock earnings and savings accounts, give the permanently and totally disabled a 12 per cent workmen's compensation increase, and make the third Monday in January a state holiday in honor of the late Dr. Martin Luther King.

Schools Study Gas Cut Back

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

City Schools Superintendent Fritz Jacobs announced late Wednesday that the schools were notified of a serious gas cut back. The board of education convened in a special meeting Wednesday to discuss the problems of the curtailment and the alternatives of closing the school system during the winter months.

The letter from Columbia Gas of Ohio reached the superintendent's office earlier this week and advised that the gas allocations for February and March would be cut by 40 per cent. Monthly gas allocations were made this year from November, 1974 through March, 1975 and were based on the use over the past three years.

With the new curtailment of gas allocations over the next two months, the gas company urged the school districts to conserve gas and offered installation of alternate means of heating. Jacobs said that the suggestion of alternate methods of heating was of course impossible for the city schools.

He went on to say that the system had cut back on a voluntary basis last year and because of that practice the additional conservation now would not be as difficult to handle as if the schools had been operating at the temperatures of previous years. He was optimistic that with the reasonable conservation which he and the board had devised the system could get through the winter months without closing.

The gas company's letter could be misleading to a degree stated Jacobs. He explained that the cutback for February and March really meant the billing which would be received during those months. The February allocation actually runs from the first week of January through the first week of February and the March billing from the first part of February through the first part of March.

Since the city schools have been operating on a modified conservation program, Jacobs said they had a little backlog of fuel because they had used less than the original allocation.

He said he would have to have much more information before making a concrete statement that the schools would stay open all winter. Several areas of immediate action are presently being taken to conserve as much energy as realistically possible.

One of the most important measures authorized by the board and the superintendent is the shut down of the heating equipment. Jacobs said the boilers would be put on night run shortly before dismissal of school each day. Night activities will not consume any more energy because Jacobs said the buildings would run on night temperatures even though activities are scheduled.

Although this sounds drastic at first, he said the gymnasiums would hold heat to start with and then the number of people would hold the temperature higher by body heat alone.

Questions, Answers On Energy Given

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's energy program is a big, confusing package featuring plans to sock the public for $30 billion in higher energy costs, then give the money back.

Here, in questions and answers, is an explanation of the energy policy proposed Wednesday in Ford's first State of the Union address: Q. You've lost me already. I thought high energy prices were part of the problem. Why does the President want to raise them even higher? A. He thinks that if energy costs more you will use less and save fuel. And he figures future energy supplies will be costly to produce, so it will take higher prices to pay for them.

Q. What will this program cost me? A. Zarb says the program would add about $250 to the average family's fuel bill, a 26 per cent increase. The administration estimates its proposals would raise the cost of petroleum products around 10 cents a gallon.

Q. What about natural gas? A. The gas industry estimated the average residential price last year at about $1.17 per thousand cubic feet. Ford is proposing to add a new federal tax of 37 cents per thousand cubic feet.

Besides, he wants Congress to end federal regulation of interstate gas prices, allowing the prices to rise sharply.

Q. I thought Ford didn't want price controls. How would he raise the cost of oil? A. He says he will start by imposing new fees on oil imports, in one-dollar steps in February, March and April. By that time he will be charging an additional $3 per barrel on imported crude oil. He will also put a fee of $1.20 per barrel on imported petroleum products.

But he wants Congress to replace those measures with a uniform new excise tax of $2 per barrel on all crude oil and imported products.

Q. So the oil companies pick up a bundle in higher prices for doing nothing, right? A. Not the way Ford sees it. He also wants Congress to pass a windfall profits tax that would scoop up around 88 per cent of the companies' increased profits.

Q. Import fees, excise taxes, windfall taxes — that sounds like a lot of revenue.

A. It is. About $30 billion a year by administration estimates, and you, the public, will wind up paying for it. But remember, Ford wants to give it back to you.

Q. If he gives back the extra energy money, will people really use less energy? A. The administration thinks so. Besides, you may not get back all of your own new energy payments dollar for dollar.

Q. Why not? Where is it going? A. About $16.5 billion would be returned in the form of a reduction in individual taxes. Roughly $2 billion more would be channeled into special payments to poor people.

Of the remaining $11 billion or so, $6 billion would be returned to corporations, $2 billion would go to state and local governments, and the federal government would keep $3 billion to offset its own increased energy costs.

Reds Shell Training Area At Saigon

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Viet Cong gunners shelled South Vietnam's biggest military training center in suburban Saigon, killing four persons and wounding more than 40.

The attack came just before midnight Wednesday.

Associated Press photographer Dang Van Phuoc reported from the Quang Trung training center six miles northwest of Saigon that two trainees were killed when five shells landed on the center, which contained between 7,000 and 8,000 trainees at the time.

Three other 100-pound rockets landed in villages around the camp, killing an old man and a child and damaging at least six homes, Phuoc said.

The wounded included 34 military trainees and 10 villagers.

The Indonesian delegation to the international peacekeeping commission appealed to the Saigon government and the Viet Cong today to reduce hostilities, resume negotiations for a peaceful settlement and seriously implement the two-year-old cease-fire agreement.

The International Commission of Control and Supervision, whose other members are Iran, Poland and Hungary, has been ineffective because of ideological splits between its members and because talks between the two warring sides have been suspended since June.

Weather

Occasional light snow today, ending by afternoon, high near 30. Partly cloudy and colder tonight with a low of 10-15. Cloudy and warmer Friday with a high in the low 30s. Probability of precipitation, 60 per cent today, 20 per cent tonight and 10 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Wednesday were: high, 32; low, 25.

ROUNDTOWN

COLUMBIA Gas of Ohio's request for a cut back on gas allotments to industry will apparently have more effect on the economy of the industry rather than having an immediate impact on the employment picture.

Most industries have an alternative fuel supply, diesel fuel, but it is more expensive than gas. Since the beginning of the year the employment situation has been fairly stable, industry spokesmen report.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market came to a fairly high-volume standstill today as investors were unable to agree on implications of President Ford's speech.

"The lack of market movement despite high volume reflects differences of opinion people have with regard to the President's proposals and the prospects for action," said Manu Kisor of Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .54 to 652.85 in a bouncy session. Gainers continued to lead losers about 3 to 2 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The broad-based NYSE index of all common stocks was down .07 to 38.30.

On the American Stock Exchange, the Amex market-value index was up .23 to 67.73 at noon.

S.S. Kresge was the most active on the Big Board, off 1/4 at 24% followed by Gulf Resources and Chemical Corp., up 3/4 to 12%. Commonwealth Edison, Chicago's electric power company, was unchanged at 25% and AT&T fell 1/4 to 46%. On Wednesday, the telephone company said it had lowered its earnings estimate for 1974 and cut its 1975 capital spending budget by $600 million due to slowing revenues.

House Chairmen Feel Hot Breath Of Reform Moves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two powerful House committee chairmen—F. Edward Hebert of Armed Services and W.R. Poague of Agriculture—were ousted today by the Democratic caucus.

Democrats emerging from the caucus on voting for the 21 House chairmen said Hebert was rejected 152 to 135 and Poague lost 143 to 141.

They thus became the third and fourth chairmen to suffer in a growing assault on the venerable seniority system in the House.

The Democratic Steering Committee earlier had recommended stripping chairmanships from Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., and Wayne Hays, D-Ohio. The caucus has yet to vote on these recommendations.

Poague had been recommended for re-appointment as the chairman by the Steering Committee. Under caucus rules the committee now has five days in which to nominate another candidate for the Agriculture chairmanship. Others can be nominated in opposition.

The steering committee voted Wednesday to replace Patman, an 81-year-old Texas Democrat, as chairman of the House Banking Committee with Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis. The panel also nominated Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., to replace Hays, an Ohio Democrat, as chairman of the House Administration Committee.

By only two votes, the leadership-dominated steering panel renominated Rep. W.R. Poague, D-Tex., as chairman of the Agriculture Committee and Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., as chairman of the Armed Services Committee.

Some members predicted that Poague and Hebert would lose when the more liberal caucus of all House Democrats took up their renominations.

Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., said Patman's defeat would hurt Hebert's chances.

"It would be an absolute travesty if Patman were ditched and Hebert were not," asserted Eckhardt, saying he was referring to the manner in which the two chairmen treated their committee members.

"Hebert treats some of his like dirt," Eckhardt said, specifically mentioning an instance where Hebert publicly made sexually oriented remarks to committee member Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo.

"The walls are tumbling," said Rep. Gladys Spellman, D-Md., a leader of the move by freshmen members to challenge the seniority system and make chairmen who were accountable to the full Democratic membership.

A veteran member of the steering panel predicted a "ripple effect."

"If you shoot down barons, you might as well shoot them all down," he said.

Commenting on the steering committee's votes against Patman and Hays, Rep. John Brademas of Indiana, a member of the panel, said: "What happened is a perfectly understandable result of the election results last November and of the Democratic reforms last month."

Brademas, Speaker Carl Albert, and Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill denied that the leadership had engineered the upsets of Patman and Hays.

Tax Break Aimed At Low Incomes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxpayers at low and middle-income levels would get a better tax break from President Ford's proposed tax reductions than high-income taxpayers.

Ford has urged lower tax rates, beginning with taxes being withheld this year, in order to offset a new round of proposed energy price increases. The lower rates are in addition to the one-shot 12 per cent tax cut proposed for taxes on 1974 income.

Families of four with incomes somewhere between $12,500 and $15,000 would break even under Ford's plans, getting a tax cut about equal to the increase in their energy costs, according to government estimates.

Energy costs for a family of four are expected to increase about $250 due to higher energy taxes, according to Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb. The $250 also represents the approximate tax savings to the typical family of four with an income of between $12,500 and $15,000.

The income group that would benefit the most from the tax reductions is in the $10,000 category, where a family of four would enjoy tax savings of $349, or $99 more than the average new energy costs. The tax for this family would decline from $867 at present to $518.

At the $12,500 income level, the tax savings would be $300, and at $40,000, it would be $130, meaning taxpayers in the higher bracket would receive $120 less than the average increase in energy prices.

Everybody at the low end of the income scale would at least get $80. Zarb said this would more than cover higher energy costs at low income levels, which he estimated at $44 a family.

If a person has insufficient taxable income to pay any taxes, he or she would receive an $80 check from the government to cover higher energy costs, a kind of negative income tax.

This payment would go to every adult 18 years and over who earns too little income to pay any taxes and who is not eligible to be included as an exemption on someone else's tax return.

A total of $2 billion would be distributed in this fashion to about 25 million adult Americans, Treasury Department officials said.

The tax program announced by Ford in his State of the Union address altogether would return $28.5 billion to individual taxpayers in 1975, counting a 12 per cent tax rebate for 1974, totalling $12 billion, and a $16.5 billion cut in income taxes for 1975.

The rebate for 1974 would be paid in two installments, one in May and one in September, while the tax cut program is designed to be permanent and would be effective on Jan. 1 of this year.

A major part of the President's tax cut plan for 1975 includes a doubling of the so-called income allowance to $2,600 that would remove an estimated five million more taxpayers from the tax rolls.

Under Ford's plan, a family of four with income of $5,600 or below would not pay any income tax. The current tax on $5,600 income is $185.

In contrast to the tax rate reductions for 1975 and beyond, which would give proportionally greater benefits to low- and middle-income earners, the tax rebate for 1974 would benefit all income levels.

conservation, Jacobs said he was advising the staff and students to wear warmer clothing. He said the temperatures would be cut back but only to the point where the students and staff would be comfortable with the reasonable amount of additional clothing. Body heat in the classroom will also affect the temperature.

He said the whole district would be affected at the same rate of reduction. The next step then is to re-evaluate the system of conservation after the next meter reading, according to the superintendent.

Although the problem is serious enough now, Jacobs said, if the same rate of reduction is applied next year by the gas company, it will be impossible for the schools to remain open throughout the winter months.

The problem must be serious or the gas company would not have included the schools in the cutback according to Jacobs.

The district is ready to implement allreasonable reductions on a trial and error basis. Jacobs said he would try new methods of conservation and then if they proved not enough then he would take further reductions but would always stay within reason in his methods.

He explained the penalty system for overusage. Since all the city schools are gas heated, this policy would affect the entire system. If for example, the junior high school alone used the full amount of the original allocation for these two months, Jacobs said it would cost the district an additional $17,000 just to heat that one building. He said one school alone in the district uses over one million cubic feet of fuel in one month.

Overusage is absolutely out of the question said the superintendent because no institution, could operate and pay the price of the overuse of gas. He stressed the objective now was to keep the schools open and that he still believed the closing of schools was counter productive because the students would use more energy in the separate homes than in one place.

Panic was also emphasized as a unnecessary problem Jacobs said. He continued that the schools would approach the situation gradually and realistically.

The superintendent said besides cooler temperatures were really healthier and the American people had a patriotic responsibility as a whole to conserve energy.

Guidelines which were adopted by the board Wednesday have already been implemented in three of the city's school buildings and Jacobs said the school's heating equipment was presently in excellent repair.

Both the school district and the court house have been affected locally with the cutback in fuel allocations.

Although the schools in the county have been notified of the gas cutbacks, they will not be affected as drastically as the city schools because not so many buildings are involved in the other three districts.

Westfall has two buildings heated entirely by gas and superintendent Gordon Massie said he had received the notice of the 40 per cent curtailment. He said that some of the other buildings will also face fuel conservation because of the high cost of fuel oil and coal.

The Westfall board will meet Monday in regular session to discuss this matter. Massie said he would present the board with the letter from the gas company and they would approach it from there.

Officials in the Teays Valley District were also notified Monday of the gas curtailment. Orlan Cooper, assistant to the superintendent, said today that as of now they were not trying to project any concrete statement on closing. He said the district would try to maintain regular school sessions within the new allocations.

There are three buildings in the TV district which are heated by gas, Ashville, Walnut and Scioto Elementary Schools.

Cooper went on to say that he had tried to obtain more information from the gas company after he had received the notice of the 40 per cent cutback but was unable to do so.

John Henn, local superintendent of the Logan Elm District, said today that he had received word that the gas allocations would be cut back in the Laurelville School. He said there were two schools in the district which were heated by natural gas, Laurelville and Washington. Henn commented that he had not yet received any statement on a cutback on Washington's gas supply but he was expecting it any time. Laurelville is served by the Logan Gas Company.

Several guidelines for the conservation of energy were put into effect last year in the Logan Elm District and Henn said he had representatives from a Columbus firm at the schools now making reviews on the heating systems.

The Logan Elm District students and staff members have worked since last year on a energy conservation brochure which Henn said was now available. The joint effort was coordinated by Mrs. Opal Sims.

Although the gas has been cut back throughout the county, most of the school officials believe they can make it on those new allocations this year. Another important factor which was mentioned by several of the local superintendents is the important variable, weather. If a mild winter prevails then the problems with the cutbacks will not be so great. Jacobs commented that if sub-zero temperatures were to persist for several days the situation could change.

A spokesman for the Lancaster Schools said he had been told also if the temperature would drop and stay down the schools would have to close for the duration of the cold spell. He said the Lancaster schools had closed an extra two days after the first of the year to conserve energy.

If the industry is forced to close in the Lancaster area, our spokesman said the schools would probably have to follow suit.

It has been shown that for every degree the thermostat is dropped, there is a savings of three per cent of the total use of gas.

Light Snow Sifts Over Wide Areas

By The Associated Press
Snow sifted into scattered areas from the central Rockies to New England today, but amounts generally were light and the nation was free of any major storms.

Up to 2 inches of snow whitened parts of Wyoming and northern Illinois. One-inch snowfalls were common in Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Rain sprinkled the Pacific Northwest, and fog formed over the central valleys of California before daybreak.

Clear skies were the rule in most other sections of the country.

In the West, the bodies of two cross-country skiers who died in avalanches in the Colorado Rockies were recovered on Wednesday. A search was in progress for a third skier believed buried in a snow slide in the Monarch Ski Area of Chaffee County.

Temperatures moderated further after an arctic outbreak that began with last weekend's Midwestern blizzard. Subzero cold persisted in the northern Rockies and Plains, but a gradual warming continued from the Midwest to the Deep South.

Readings before dawn ranged from 14 at Alamosa, Colo., to 66 at Key West and West Palm Beach, Fla.

Ohio Soldier's Death Probed

BISBEE, Ariz. (AP)—The Cochise County grand jury will get evidence next month in the death of an Ohio soldier more than a year ago, authorities said Wednesday.

County Atty. Richard Riley said investigators have been probing the death of Pfc. David Kyler as a homicide, but an autopsy failed to establish a cause of death.

"We don't know how he died," Riley said. "It could have been due to exposure or starvation."

Riley said witnesses from Sierra Vista, Ariz., Ft. Huachuca, Tucson, Wisconsin and Louisiana will be called before the grand jury. They include Kyler's widow, Karen, who lives in Michigan, Riley said.

Man Sentenced To Prison Term

One person made an appearance Wednesday afternoon before Judge William Ammer. The court heard a charge of violation of probation against Ronald Zeigler and sentenced him to the Ohio State Reformatory for Men at Mansfield for a term of one to five years.

Zeigler had appeared before the court originally for a charge of grand larceny and was placed on probation. He was brought before the court again by the Adult Parole Authority for violating terms of that probation.

Second National's Newest Staff Member Is Named

The Second National Bank announces its newest staff member is Ralph Roby.

He began work as the Bank's messenger soon after the first of this year. As the messenger, his duties include a full schedule of interoffice mail runs, as well as frequent trips to the Post Office and the Courthouse. He also directs traffic in the parking lot on busy days and even substitutes on the main switchboard.

Roby is a native of South Bloomfield, where he attended elementary school. During the 1930's he graduated from Ashville High School and afterwards became a route salesman for the Mader Potato Chip Company. In 1943, he entered the U.S. Naval Service. After graduating from the Naval Radar school he was assigned to the Aircraft Carrier U.S.S. Hancock C. V. 19. He traveled 18 months in the Pacific then returned to the states where he received an Honorable Discharge in November, 1945.

During the next few years, he worked for Henry T. McCrady in the County Engineers Department and as a route salesman for the Dean's Potato Chip Company.

After passing the Civil Service exam for the U.S. Postal Service, he was assigned as a letter carrier for the Circleville Post Office. However, due to a serious illness, he was forced to take a Disability Retirement in 1969, but a quiet retirement doesn't appeal to him. Ralph says, "I retired once but I don't plan to do that again. I enjoy being out with people too much." People enjoy Ralph also, commenting on his courtesy and enthusiasm for people. Since his retirement, he has worked as a salesman for Circleville Mobile Homes and for Keith's Men's Shop during this past Christmas.

Ralph has been active in the community for many years. His memberships include the B. P. O. Elks Lodge 77, The American Legion, The Circleville Booster Club, The National Association of Letter Carriers, The American Association of Retired Persons, and The Pickaway County Senior Citizens. He also serves on the Administrative Board of the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church.

Ralph and his wife, Helen have resided at 557 East Main Street for the past 41 years.

A Page Of Opinion

Heavy Responsibility

Looking at the world food situation today, and as it probably will progress in the immediate future, and then glancing at the American farmer who is expected to carry a large part of the burden, one conclusion is obvious. Never has so much been expected of so few.

The agricultural revolution has reduced the ranks of American farmers from 30 per cent of the population a half century ago to less than 5 per cent today. From that 5 per cent comes the abundance many Americans have come to expect and an increasing contribution to the food needs of almost every continent.

No longer is there any thought to surpluses or ways of holding down production to bolster sagging prices. The problem has made a complete turn. It is now a question of turning as much farmland as possible into production and extracting the largest possible harvests per acre.

To do that the farmer is going to need a freer hand than he has had in 40 years to run his farm as the important business it is and to respond to the market demand for his products. In return he will need a fair return on his investment and a fair profit for his labor.

Watergate Mercy

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — The liberation of John Dean, Herbert Kalmbach and Jeb Stuart Magruder by Judge John Sirica on the 62nd birthday of former President Nixon, who is the ultimate pardoned member of the Watergate business, bears out one of Shakespeare's most treasured flights of fancy:

"The quality of mercy is not strain'd,
It droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place beneath. It is twice blessed:
It blesseth him that gives and him that takes."

On the same day Dean, etc., were released, Federal Judge Walter E. Hoffman, who gave former Vice President Spiro Agnew three years' probation and a modest fine for income tax evasion rather than a prison term, said that if he had to do it all over again he would do it all over again.

"I don't think it's proper, just because a man is in high political office, to say 'I'm going to make a goat out of you,'" the judge said in answer to a reporter's question.

The action by Judge Sirica and the statement by Judge Hoffman will anger a certain percentage of the population which has come to believe in the wake of Watergate that there is one law for the famous and another and much harsher law for the faceless wrongdoer.

A correspondent keeps writing me to ask how our system condones and makes excuses for acts that disillusion millions of Americans in their political leadership, but, on the other hand, sentences a young man named Terry Sullivan of Rochester, N.Y. to life imprisonment — in dreaded Attica — for handing over a half ounce of cocaine to a New York narcotics agent who had implored him to obtain same. The hardworking kid, who never had so much as a parking ticket offense, scrounged the cocaine as a favor to the bloke who entrapped him and who busted him. So he gets life imprisonment!

But another percentage of the body politic will be cheered by the decisions affecting Nixon and his close associates. It must suddenly feel like a better New Year in the minds of John Mitchell, Bob Haldeman, John Ehrlichman and Robert Mardian. Also the minds of John Connally, who comes up for trial on an off-sheet CREEP matter in March, Bebe Rebozo, and lesser figures in the case.

But will unstrain'd mercy in their cases please, let's say, Terry Sullivan? Reubin Hurricane Carter?

Economy Brings Army Volunteers

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A shaky economy and rising unemployment are getting the Army more volunteers than it needs, military officials say.

"We're struggling to stay under 101 per cent of our goal. We have to restrain from exceeding our objective," says Col. Jack Hougen, head of a recruiting office for 12 Midwestern states at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

"If a guy can't find suitable employment on the outside, it becomes more attractive in the service," says Col. Perry Stevens, a public information officer at the Pentagon.

In Detroit, where layoffs in the automobile industry have sent the unemployment rate climbing, a recruiter says volunteers "want security right now. That's what we're offering them."

Under the volunteer Army concept, a nationwide recruiting goal is established each month to keep the size of the Army as close as possible to manpower levels authorized by Congress.

"We've exceeded the goal every month for the past six or seven months," says Stevens, an Army public information officer at the Pentagon.

The Pentagon says the Army signed up 19,895 men and women in October, 105.3 per cent of its goal of 18,900. September's objective was 22,800, but 23,545 volunteered.

In 1973, the Army reached only 88.7 per cent of its October objective and 86.2 per cent of its September goal.

Crime Increase Noted In Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Police report a 6.6 per cent rise in major crime reported in Cincinnati in 1974.

Twelve-month totals show that all indexed crimes, with the exception of murder, increased this past year over the previous year's total.

The category of aggravated assault showed the greatest increase with 64.1 per cent more cases reported. Police noted, however, that this year the threat of the use of a weapon is an element of aggravated assault.

The great New York Times, which NBC's Ed Newman accuses of dealing fast and loose with our language (Ed. Note: In Ed's delightful "Strictly Speaking" — Bobbs Merrill) quotes Miss Kitty's opponent along these lines:

"Miss Super Star sits out there and can do anything she wants. She can have a mountain lion, otters, kit fox, cheetahs — any wild animal she wants. But you let a kid try to keep a pet quail and the department seizes it."

Ain't fair to Miss Kitty. If I know Miss Kitty, and I guess I do after all these years of loving her on "Sun-stroke," there's no reason for making no mountain out of no molehill. With her influence with Matt and the W.C.T.U. Miss Kitty could settle the whole thing before the first commercial. She'd see to it that little Jack King got Hercules back pronto. Hercules is the quail little Jack raised from an egg he come across in the desert.

Then Marshal Dillon would stroll through the swinging doors after having drilled 12 large holes in the Dirty Dozen, with his inexhaustible 6-shooter, and buy Shirley Temples for Doc, Festus and the kid. And a beer for me and Miss Kitty, my ideal saloon keeper.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Judge William Ammer also stipulated as part of the drug offender's probation that he seek counseling at the Integrity House in Columbus. This institution is a type of half-way house. He was also ordered to stay out of Pickaway County and not to have any drugs in his possession except for a physician's prescription. Violation of any of these points could constitute a charge of violation of probation in which the defendant is again brought before the court.

I am writing in regards to Judge William Ammer's decision to grant probation to two men who were involved with the possession and the dispensing of drugs. One man "was convicted earlier for possession of drugs and also for illegal dispensing of drugs," and the other for breaking and entering a doctor's office in Ashville "and possession of hallucinogens." The quotes are directly from the Jan. 8 issue of the Circleville Herald.

Another man the same day was charged with writing four bad checks. "Judge Ammer sentenced him to terms of six months to five years at the Mansfield Reformatory on each of the four counts and then ordered the sentences to run concurrently." Again, this quote is from the Jan. 8 Herald. What makes me angry is that the two men who had drug charges are free to walk the streets of Circleville, or any other town, and sell drugs to any young child or teenager, even though he is on probation. Is this the way people are supposed to respect the law? It makes a person think "Well, I can still sell drugs and pot, the judge will give me probation."

Judge Ammer has perhaps just caused another boy or girl, in grade school maybe, to become hooked on hard drugs, while a man charged with writing four bad checks is sitting in a reformatory taking that dope pedler's place.

Maybe I'm wrong, but I would rather have a man walking the streets writing bad checks than a man who is on probation, out selling hard drugs to a child.

Incidents like this has happened before and I hope Judge Ammer will not allow this to happen again.

Sincerely,
KAREN ADAMS

Mansfield Pact Given Split Vote

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A new city contract offer was accepted by service employees Wednesday and rejected by police officers.

Officers rejected the pact, which included a pay hike of $520 annually and other benefits along with a wage reopener clause.

The 100 service employees who accepted the agreement, represented by the Teamsters Union, make up one-fifth of the city's 500 workers.

"Okay, so I'm a hypochondriac! Can you recommend a good hypochondriac specialist?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I've been told that there are different classifications that doctors use to determine the severity of heart disease. My husband has heart trouble, but I have never heard his classification.

Mrs. G.K., Ga.

Dear Mrs. K.:
The classification of heart disease is a highly technical one.

The American Heart Association divides heart disease into four categories. Doctors follow these classifications, which are based on the capacity of a patient to perform ordinary activities.

Class I includes those who can do all normal activities without discomfort. Class II includes those who have shortness of breath and pain in the chest with mild activity. These patients are only slightly limited in function.

Class III are those patients who are comfortable while at rest. They may have symptoms of pain and shortness of breath with the slightest exertion. The activity of these patients is, of course, greatly limited.

Class IV includes those who cannot carry on any physical activity without pain and shortness of breath. Many of these patients have symptoms even when they are at rest.

The classification of heart disease is a very broad one. Many classes overlap each other. A classification may change with treatment, drugs, new exercise regimes, and with emotional support.

I've often wondered if patients in hospitals can be infected with someone else's thermometer.

Miss W.N., Del.

Dear Miss N.:
This has never been a major problem. Even before the days of disposable thermometers each patient had his own.

Today, most hospitals have electronic thermometers. The tips of these are individually used, and immediately discarded. With this new device, exact temperatures can be read within a hundredth of a degree, in 20 to 30 seconds.

At home, whenever possible, disposable thermometers should be used. They are not expensive.

Ordinary thermometers should be carefully washed with soap and lukewarm water. Remember that the receptacle must be thoroughly cleaned so that infectious germs will not be harbored and transmitted to other members of the family.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The President's proposed 12 per cent income tax rebate and his determination to "turn the country in a new direction" probably will relieve the pervasive feeling among Americans that they are economically adrift.

Nobody really knows for certain just what the characters and needs are of so varied a people as Americans, but polls show they are upset over what they feel is an inability of leaders to tug hard on the reins.

Now that President Ford has promised to take a firm hold, they have reason to wonder if the horse is to be tugged in the right direction by the tax on imported crude oil.

As does any industrial society, America runs on energy, and to a greater extent than many are evident.

Farmers use it to bring crops to market. Retailers use it to light, heat and advertise their stores. Trace any other product to its source and you find the same pattern.

What the tax might do is provide a supportive argument for utilities and others already disposed to use more domestic coal at the expense of clean air and tidy landscapes. It could be a spur to and excuse for the changeover.

While the increased costs to industry would be ameliorated by raising the investment tax credit to 12 per cent from 7 per cent, a question remains about the possible impact on particular industries.

Utilities, for instance, already are suffering sharply higher costs and a reluctance on the part of consumers to approve more rate increases. It remains to be seen if and how they will be helped or hurt by the proposals.

The automotive industry is depressed, and it could become even more depressed by higher prices for gasoline. Americans awakened suddenly this past year to realization of the high cost of running a car. They might be further discouraged.

The total impact really cannot be measured yet. To the extent that higher energy prices discourage frivolous use of energy there'll probably be a gain. But most energy usage is considered essential and probably can't be cut much.

If the program spurs development of domestic supplies it also will be a plus.

But a disquieting factor is the cost of the Ford proposals. A budget deficit of $30 billion is possible for fiscal 1975, to end this June, and an even larger deficit is possible in the following year.

In other words, a tremendous impetus to inflation may be sown with the proposal.

Emergency Natural Gas Situation Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Power Commission judge says he will ask six states to declare natural gas emergencies. The proclamations would call on residents and businesses to use less gas for heating.

Citing shortages "of terrifying proportions," FPC Administrative Law Judge William Jensen said Tuesday that natural gas saved in Virginia, Delaware, Alabama, Pennsylvania and North and South Carolina would be diverted to industries to help avert layoffs.

The states are served by the Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Co., which announced last month it was curtailing 15 billion cubic feet of gas this winter because of the shortages.

Jensen said he is also considering asking five other states served by the company, New Jersey, New York, Georgia, Mississippi and Maryland, to declare emergencies.

During the emergency period, Jensen said, residents and businesses using natural gas for heating would be called upon to lower their thermostats to 68 degrees.

Jensen said he felt that homeowners and small businesses in the affected states would be willing to have their homes a little cooler in exchange for increased employment.

Transmission Line Proposal Rejected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An electric transmission line proposed by Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. from Lake County to Cleveland by way of Macedonia was rejected Tuesday by the Ohio Power Siting Commission.

CEI's application for the 345-kilovolt line connecting the Perry nuclear power plant to its Inland substation in Cleveland was ruled incomplete, the commission secretary said.

When the firm has completed areas dealing with 10-year forecasts, land use and future and existing highway projects, the commission will review the proposal again.

Carl Johnson Named PUCO Head

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Carl R. Johnson, a Republican, was appointed chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio Wednesday by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The chairman serves at the discretion of the governor. Johnson, 62, will replace Sally Bloomfield, who was named chairman by outgoing Gov. John N. Gilligan before he left office.

Johnson has served on the commission since 1963. He will work with Mrs. Bloomfield and David Sweet, a former director of the Department of Economic and Community Development under Gilligan.

McElroy Again On Hot Seat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Long hours and constant pressure were norms when John McElroy of Columbus last worked for Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Throughout Rhodes' two terms, 1963-1971, McElroy usually put in a 14-hour workday as executive assistant.

This time, the 66-year-old McElroy hopes to take it a little easier. In a recent interview he said he would have two additional aides, an assistant in charge of paroles and prisons and a second legislative liaison to help with the work load.

McElroy may find lightening his own work load is easier said than done.

"Governor Rhodes works long hours and he generally gets people around him to work long hours, too," said McElroy.

Whatever the work load, McElroy brings with him one of the more varied backgrounds among Rhodes' appointees.

Born in Covington, Ky., McElroy was brought up in Pasadena, Calif. He attended Pasadena City College for two years and was graduated from Ohio State University law school in 1932.

After graduation, McElroy was hired as an attorney for a Toledo law firm. One of his main jobs was foreclosing on home owners' mortgages.

"It was dreary business," said McElroy.

So, after 30 months McElroy quit the law firm and became a salesman for a lime manufacturing firm in Woodville, Ohio.

In 1938 McElroy became director of research and publicity for the Ohio Republican party. A year later he was named assistant chief of the Ohio Division of Securities.

In 1940 he set up an aluminum floor molding firm in Columbus and became its vice president and general manager.

McElroy enlisted in the Army in 1942 and served in various staff positions in Washington, D.C., and Italy during World War II. He was discharged in 1946.

For the next six years he was a self-employed consultant to industry and government agencies on "word skills."

In 1952 he became administrative assistant to U.S. Sen. John Bricker and then minority counsel for the U.S. Senate Commerce Committee in 1959.

He served for the committee until Rhodes asked him to be his executive assistant in 1963. McElroy said the offer came out of the blue. He served until the end of Rhodes' second term in 1971. During the four years of Gov. John Gilligan's administration, McElroy was a member of a Columbus law firm.

Dear Abby:

Facts From Fish Fanciers

DEAR ABBY: "Sorry for fish" asked if fish felt pain. She said she goes fishing with a friend who fillets the fish right after it's caught, and she can't bear to watch because it's still alive and wiggling.

You told her that since fish have nervous systems, they must have feelings, and suggested that she tell her impatient friend to wait until the fish dies before he fillets it.

Abby, you certainly don't know much about fish. What's so humane about letting fish die gasping for breath out of water? An expert fisherman first cracks the fish on its head to stun it, then quickly cuts off the head with a sharp knife.

Dead fish decompose very quickly. (About 200 times faster than pork or beef.) The sooner after a fish is caught and prepared for eating, the better it will taste.

FISHWIFE

DEAR FISHWIFE: Since my piscatorial expertise is limited to suckers, that one fish letter prompted a flood of letters. Here's another:

Pearl Bailey Joins Presidential Race

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Entertainer Pearl Bailey says she's serious about running for President in 1976, and that while she believes in foreign aid, "there are a lot of people hungry at home" to take care of first.

Miss Bailey, 56, currently at Beverly Hills Country Club in Southgate, Ky., said she believes President Ford is honest "so I want to run beside him, not against him," although as an independent.

Appointed "ambassador of love," by former President Richard Nixon, she said she discovered people in other countries are more interested in getting to know Americans and having Americans know about them. "There's been enough negotiation," she said.

She said she has "always been serious and spiritual" and is hoping to help America rediscover itself. "I think we didn't do all the things we intended when we crossed frontiers."

She said America's problem is that the people stopped believing in God. "Let us return to God, honey, everybody has God in every country. God represents truth to me. We're lying to ourselves now, that all these problems will go away without any effort."

Bicentennial Medallions Available

Official Bicentennial Medallions commemorating Ohio's historical contributions to the 200-year history of the United States are now available in Ashville at The Citizens Bank.

The medallions, developed by the Ohio Bicentennial Commission and the Lincoln Mint of Chicago, are part of a statewide program to help get private enterprise and citizens involved and to help finance Bicentennial programs and celebrations throughout the state.

Each year through 1976, a new medallion will be introduced with a total of three different medallions being offered. Each medallion's design will come from a statewide high school contest with $2,500 in scholarships awarded annually for winning designs.

The first issue, designed by Lynn Anderson of Poland, Ohio, has as its theme "New Frontiers" and depicts a scene showing Ohio frontiersmen clearing a forest for settlement. The reverse side reproduces the Ohio State seal.

The Citizens Bank of Ashville is one of several financial institutions throughout the state that have agreed to display and sell these commemorative medallions which are available in solid sterling silver or antiqued bronze.

Church Fight Hearing Held

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The standing committee of the Ohio Episcopal Diocese conducted a hearing Wednesday for a minister who allowed two women priests to celebrate the Eucharist in Christ Episcopal Church in Oberlin.

The committee's decision in the case of the Rev. L. Peter Beebe was not made public, and Bishop John Burt of the Ohio diocese said it would not be released until later today.

The minister was accused of ecclesiastical disobedience for letting the women priests celebrate the Eucharist Dec. 8.

Bishop Burt had asked that the women not be permitted to officiate on grounds there is no provision in church law for women priests.

A church lay official said if the committee found probable cause a presentment would be made to the bishop and the case probably would go to trial by church authorities.

The women who performed the Eucharist at Christ Church were the Rev. Carter Heyward of New York City and the Rev. Allison Cheek of Washington, D.C. They were among 11 women ordained as Episcopal priests July 29 in Philadelphia. The House of Bishops later declared the Philadelphia ordinations invalid.

She blamed economic problems, particularly oil, on Americans waiting for big companies to find it. "People — independents — used to go out and find their own oil. We need more of this kind of thing, doing the tasks that used to be done by hand."

She blames violence in the streets and trouble in schools on parents.

"Children used to listen to their parents, but dogged if they do now. Thirty-four years after I went to school, the kids and the teachers are afraid to go to school."

"In some parts of the country people were battling to get into schools. Now those same people who changed all that are having a helluva time running it themselves."

"The kids can't spell cat. Who changed all this? The children were misled."

She said she watched President Ford's State of the Nation address on television and felt he should have tossed the speech away and just talked.

"I was hoping he'd just throw the papers up and say, 'Another thing — we're going to clean up these buildings, clean up the streets and start progress.'"

She said she feels Ford has an honest face and would have been more effective "if he'd just sit down and talked."

Ms Bailey said she figures if God wants her in the White House or sweeping the sidewalk out front, "I feel he'll put me where he wants me."

Trike Law Change Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Legislative Service Commission has been deluged with requests to draft a bill permitting youngsters to ride their tricycles on sidewalks.

David Johnston, director of the research and bill-drafting agency, said the state's adoption of the Uniform Vehicle Code inadvertently outlawed tricycles from sidewalks.

The error came, he said, when the lawmakers unintentionally include tricycles in the statutory definition of bicycles. The code was effective Jan. 1.

Anne A. Renick, LSC researcher, said Wednesday she is drafting a paper explaining the situation to legislators, many of whom have been deluged with protests from parents.

Technically, the law now provides for a fine of up to $100 for a first offense, and a maximum fine of up to $250 and up to 30 days in jail for a second offense with a year.

"Of course, it's not being enforced," Johnston said.

Freshmen Solons Learning Ropes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pity the freshman congressmen, the new kids on the block, as they learn the ropes at the beginning of the 94th Congress.

Statistics show they are different from their more experienced colleagues who are old hands at this business of being a U.S. representative.

—They are a bit better educated than the incumbents.

—They had to fight somewhat harder to win the opportunity to sit on the crowded House floor today and listen to President Ford's State of the Union address and wrestle for the next two years with the nation's problems.

—They are younger, the apparent lot of freshmen everywhere.

—There are more women, proportionately, among the freshmen than the rest of the Congress.

—And they are less likely to be married.

These differences between the new members of the 94th Congress and the old hands emerged from an Associated Press computerized study of the Congress.

There are 92 freshmen among the 435 House members, an increase over recent years. Seventy-five of the new people are Democrats; 17 are Republicans.

Only 10 per cent of the new congressmen don't have a college degree. Fourteen per cent of the incumbents didn't finish college.

The incumbents have more law degrees — 53 per cent have the degree, while only 45 per cent of the freshmen have legal training.

But when all advanced degrees are tallied, the freshmen hold a slight edge with 68 per cent having advanced degrees compared to the incumbents' 65 per cent.

The incumbents had a much easier go of it in winning reelection than the freshmen. Incumbents were so popular they averaged about 60 per cent of the popular vote. Forty-seven of them didn't even draw opposition. But the freshmen were nip and tuck in their election battles, averaging only 54 per cent of the popular vote.

The experienced congressmen have an average age of 52. The freshmen average about 39. One-third of the freshmen are under 35, although their ages range from 25 years old to 64. The youngest incumbent is 30, the oldest 82.

Purse Found After Mugging

PENN YANN, N.Y. (AP)— Mary Youhas, 70, of Lorain, Ohio, reported a month ago that she was mugged in the driveway of her home and her purse taken.

The purse was found today in a coal pile at a New York State Electric & Gas Corp. power station near this Western New York community.

Missing was the $17 inside the purse when it was taken.

Police said Mrs. Youhas believes the thief tossed the purse into a coal car of an eastbound freight train after he took the money from it.

THIRTY-DAY WEATHER FORECAST—This is the 30-day outlook for temperatures and precipitation for the United States according to information supplied by the National Weather Service.

Sneek-A-Peek

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Books entertain, enlighten and may even effect behavior. Children may not be aware of this directly, but parents know.

Do you remember a favorite book that you read - and re-read? Do your children prefer to have a story repeated, rather than to hear a new one? Perhaps a particular book fills a real need for them.

"Curious George Goes to the Hospital" is a superb book for reassuring young children about this ominous new experience. "First Night Away from Home" tells of two boys spending the night together. Everything is fine until the lights go out and Steve finds himself without his teddy bear. But his mother unexpectedly finds a solution. Good for her!

New baby in the family? Frances, the little raccoon in "A Baby Sister for Frances" has mixed feelings about the new baby. She even tries to run away, although not very far. And in "Nicky's Sister", Nicky finds he can even be a help to his mother.

Charlotte Zolotow has a deft way of confronting difficult problems. "William's Doll" would be very helpful in a family where a little boy is very dependent on a doll. Happily, William is allowed a doll to love. Sadly, some fathers may never read this story.

Phyllis Krasilovsky tells what it's like to tower over the other children in "The Very Tall Little Girl." Ellen Raskin's "Spectacles" is a humorous approach to new glasses and the problems they cause.

Although a rosy story isn't a sure-fire solution, it can provide insights for parent and child.

"Peter and Mr. Brandon" pictures the slow stroll of two companions through the busy streets. Will Dad see himself in this book about a too busy father and an old gentleman who makes time for Peter?

Again, Charlotte Zolotow seems to understand how young people feel when a friend moves away. "Janey" tells of the loss of her best friend, the kind of girl "you can sit with and not talk."

Judith Viorst, one of the bright new authors of children's books knows how helpless children feel. In "Alexander and the Very Bad, Terrible, No-Good Day", the poor guy gets pushed around all day. He can't find a good seat in the car, he is bullied on the playground and even the dog growls at him.

The funniest new book we've seen is "If I Had My Way." Four year old Ellie dreams she has changed places with her parents. Over and over again they send her for a glass of water or a storybook or a beloved doll. And, adamantly, she turns down their requests and firmly shuts the door. Do children really know what is best for them?

Try a few of our new books - it could be enlightening - and FUN!

Sugar Beet Farmers Have Good Year

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—The price of sugar is going down as fast as it increased because of consumer resistance and stockpiling, but if initial returns hold, 1974 was a good year for Ohio sugar beet farmers, an official of Northern Ohio Sugar Co., says.

Robert Zilles, agricultural administrator, said about 700 farmers in six northern Ohio counties delivered 397,321 tons of sugar beets to the firm's two plants in Fremont and Findlay. The 1973 yield was 95,000 tons less.

Farmers have received only one of four payments anticipated for the 1974 crop, but the initial amount was nearly double 1973's first payment. This year's first cash return to farmers was $30 a ton, compared to $16 a ton a year ago.

Northern had farmers in Sandusky, Ottawa, Erie, Seneca, Wood and Lucas counties under contract last year for 26,000 acres of sugar beets, about two thousand acres more than the previous year.

Zilles said although the 1973 crop brought a total of $34.13 a ton, it is impossible to predict total payments for 1974 because of fluctuating sugar prices. Northern Ohio Sugar is a subsidiary of the Great Western Sugar Co. of Denver, Colo.

Another 300 farmers in Putnam, Henry, Defiance, Hancock, Allen and Van Wert counties grow sugar beets for Buckeye Sugars, Inc., headquartered in Ottawa.

President John Stacey also believes 1974 was a good year for yield and prices.

Farmers brought in 146,401 tons of sugar beets in 1974, compared to 100,495 tons in 1973.

The first payment for 1974 by Buckeye was $25 a ton, higher than last year's total payment of $23.81 per ton and compares with a first installment of $14.25 per ton, Stacey said.

Buckeye Sugar had farmers under contract for 9,000 acres in 1974, two thousand acres more than in 1973.

Ask Emergency Status For Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Ronald M. Mottl, D-Ohio, Wednesday called on Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes to declare a state of natural gas emergency as a means of getting emergency allocations of the fuel from the Federal Power Commission.

Mottl said the FPC is considering proposed emergency relief in six states threatened by massive layoffs due to the natural gas shortage. Ohio also could be considered for relief if it declares an emergency situation, Mottl said.

Kroger Convicted Of Kidnap

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Clifford J. Kroger, described by his friends as a good family man with six children, has been found guilty of kidnaping 4-year-old Allison Mechem from her suburban Cincinnati home Sept. 23.

The seven-woman, five-men Hamilton County Common Pleas Court jury reduced the degree of the crime, claiming the girl had been released unharmed and in a safe place.

The decision will reduce the sentence to a 2-15 year term instead of a possible 7-25 years.

Despite Kroger's insistence that he was innocent, Judge William S. Mathews said the overwhelming burden of testimony proved otherwise. He expressed his own puzzlement over why Kroger would abduct the young girl.

"It's beyond my comprehension to understand this whole situation," Mathews said in ordering a psychiatric examination before sentencing. "I am unable to understand how anyone could remove a 4-year-old child from the guardianship of her parents."

The jury deliberated nearly nine hours before announcing its verdict.

Mathews earlier in the trial had denied a motion by defense attorney Bernard Gilday that the charge be reduced from kidnaping in the first degree, but in his charge to the jury left that option open.

Kroger, of Winter Park, Fla., presented his defense in a little over one morning of testimony. Seven witnesses were called including Kroger, who admitted being in Cincinnati and registering under false names at two motels, including the one in which the daughter of Taft Broadcasting Co. chairman Charles S. Mechem Jr. was found.

The prosecution, in sharp contrast, called 56 witnesses and introduced more than 100 exhibits into evidence.

Through nine eye-witnesses and samples of Kroger's hair, handwriting, blood and fingerprints, prosecutor Simon Leis linked Kroger to the kidnaping.

Gilday expressed doubt about the credibility of several of the eye-witnesses because they had earlier identified Frank Weichman, the first suspect arrested in the Mechem case. Weichman later was released by police, despite his identification in several lineups.

Kroger was linked to two cars involved in the getaway and also to the hotel where the girl was found. A fingerprint, identified as Kroger's was found on an envelope containing a ransom note for the young girl.

When asked at the trial's conclusion if he could add anything in his own defense, Kroger said, "I don't know what I can say now that will help. I did not kidnap the child."

The little Chevy Vega shows its frugal side in other ways. First, there's Vega's pleasantly low price. Then, because Vega this year has increased the time between recommended maintenance, you can save on upkeep, as well.

And to prove Vega has economy plus, it has five major awards to its credit in the four years since its introduction, including Motor Trend's 1973 selection as "Economy Car of the Year" (GT model), plus Car and Driver's Readers' Choice Poll awards in 1971, 1972 and 1973 as "Best Economy Sedan."

All-Americans Honor Three CHS Athletes

Two seniors and a junior at Circleville High School have been selected to be honored by High School All-Americans for 1974.

They are seniors Scott Bowman and Tim McNaughton and junior Biff Bumgarner.

Their selection was based on outstanding athletic ability and sportsmanship, academic ability and involvement in extra-curricular activities.

Less than one per cent of the nation's athletes are selected to be honored.

Bowman, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bowman, Route 3, played offensive and defensive tackle on the football team.

McNaughton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen McNaughton, Route 2, played offensive guard and defensive end on the football squad.

Bumgarner, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bumgarner, 1045 Lynwood Ave., played tailback on the football team, forward on the basketball squad, and third base on the baseball team.

Westfall will be out to avenge a 52-50 loss at the hands of Paint Valley when they had to travel to the winner's floor earlier in the year.

The Mustangs are 3-5 in loop play while Paint Valley is 4-3.

Southeastern is leading the league with a perfect 7-0 record.

CLEVELAND (AP)—If you would like to attend a private champagne party the night of the World Heavyweight Championship fight between Muhammad Ali and Chuck Wepner at the Coliseum all you will need is $250 for a ticket.

Fighting Saints Top Cleveland Crusaders

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Jack Vivian, coach and general manager of the Cleveland Crusaders, says leadership is what seems to be missing from the team right now.

"Somebody has to take command," Vivian said after the Crusaders fell 4-2 before the Minnesota Fighting Saints in a World Hockey Association game at the Coliseum Wednesday night.

Mike Schmidt of the Philadelphia Phillies had six games in 1974 in which he hit two home runs.

Ali AP's Choice For Top Athlete

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali evened two scores last year — beating Joe Frazier and regaining the heavyweight championship he had lost out of the ring. For his successes, he was named The Associated Press Male Athlete of 1974.

Ali, who regained the title by knocking out George Foreman in Africa, received 162 votes in a nationwide poll of sports writers and sportscasters. Hank Aaron, who broke Babe Ruth's career home run record by hitting No. 715 in April, finished second with 110 points and Lou Brock, who set a major league base-stealing record of 118, was third with 67.

Tennis star Chris Evert was named Female Athlete of the Year for 1974 Wednesday.

"Do they pick the best athlete or the most famous," asked Ali when informed of winning the 44th annual poll. "The best," he was told.

Ali smiled. The 32-year-old champion had a lot to smile about in 1974.

"It was my greatest year," said Ali who opened it by beating Joe Frazier on a unanimous 12-round decision Jan. 28 at Madison Square Garden to avenge a 15-round decision loss to Frazier, then champion, March 8, 1971.

But it was Oct. 30 in the early morning hours in the Equatorial African nation of Zaire that Ali reached another peak in a career marked by the dramatic and unexpected — his title-winning upset of Sonny Liston in 1964; the conviction for refusing induction into the military and his being stripped of the title in 1967; his dramatic return to the ring in 1970 against Jerry Quarry; the first Frazier fight in 1971 and the U.S. Supreme Court reversal of the draft-evasion conviction that same year; and his broken-jaw loss to Ken Norton in 1973, which many boxing observers felt signaled the end of his career.

On that morning in Zaire, as a 3-1 underdog, Ali knocked out George Foreman in the eighth round and regained the championship, a decade after he first won it and seven years after he had it stripped from him.

"I told you I was the greatest of all time," Ali chided reporters after the fight. "Never again say I'm going to be defeated."

"All of you suckers bow. Now you have to recognize me as the scholar of boxing."

The year of 1974 was also a big one to Ali financially. He got about $3 million for fighting Frazier and $5 million for his effort against Foreman.

In winning the 44th annual AP poll, Ali became only the third boxer to do so. The others were heavyweight Joe Louis, in 1935 when he won the title by knocking out Jim Braddock, and Ingemar Johansson, in 1959 when he gained the title by knocking out Floyd Patterson.

In the race for the 1974 award, golfer Johnny Miller, who won eight tournaments and a record $353,000, finished fourth.

Dan Roundfield Top MAC Player

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dan Roundfield, the Mid-American Conference Basketball Player of the Week, will get little argument from Kent State that he's shooting better this season.

The 6-foot-8 Central Michigan senior singed Kent State for 26 points, 15 rebounds, five steals, two blocked shots and three assists in an 83-77 Chippewa victory Saturday.

A panel of newsmen accorded Roundfield the Player of the Week honor for his performance.

Chicago Black Hawks Defeat Canucks, 2-1

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

Not all roads lead from Merritt, British Columbia to West Madison Street in Chicago. It's a long trip just to see a hockey game.

Grant Mulvey knows it, so he was happy to make the trip worthwhile for his parents by scoring the winning goal for the Black Hawks in a 2-1 National Hockey League victory over the arch-rival Vancouver Canucks Wednesday night.

4 Players To Join Grid Hall Of Fame

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — "This is something you always hope for," said former New York Giants great Roosevelt Brown, summing up his feelings about being one of four players selected for the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1975.

The statement was echoed by Dante Lavelli, a former Cleveland Browns star, who will also be enshrined into the Hall of Fame on Aug. 2 prior to the Football Hall of Fame game on that day.

The two other inductees are George Connor of the Chicago Bears and Lenny Moore of the Baltimore Colts.

"I heard about it on Tuesday and I feel real great about it," Brown said. "You always hope you'll make it."

Brown held the starting offensive right tackle spot for 13 seasons with the Giants after being picked up as a 27th round draft choice out of Morgan State in 1953.

"I guess I had a few good years," added Brown, who is now on the Giants scouting staff. The Giants won six divisional titles and the NFL crown in 1956 during Brown's tenure.

"It's the sort of thing you can't believe till you wait a day or two and let it sink in," said Lavelli, who played end for the Browns from 1946 to 1956. "It's something you always look forward to. A lot of my friends have made it and I'm really happy."

Lavelli, who was brought to the pro ranks by Paul Brown after a brief career at Ohio State University, caught 386 passes for 6,488 yards and 62 touchdowns.

Lavelli said that there were many times since he retired 18 years ago when he hoped he would make the Hall of Fame.

"However, you just have to wait until someone else judges your talents," Lavelli said. "Longevity and achievement speak for themselves, but you can never judge yourself. When I played I think there were many good players in the league."

Connor's career spanned 18 seasons with the Bears, where he played defensive tackle, offensive tackle and linebacker from 1948 to 1955.

Connor entered the pro ranks as a highly touted college player after being named an All-American in 1946 and 1947 while playing for Notre Dame.

"I'm thrilled beyond words," said Connor. "This is the ultimate, something you dream about."

Moore was the Colts No. 1 draft choice out of Penn State in 1956 and won Rookie of the Year honors.

Moore was a flanker-running back and his added ability to catch passes made him a perfect complement for quarterback Johnny Unitas.

The Colts had Moore on their roster from 1956 to 1967, during which time he caught 363 passes for 6,039 yards and had a combined yardage total of 12,449 with 113 touchdowns.

This year the Hall of Fame game has the Cincinnati Bengals facing the Washington Redskins.

Ohio U Edges Miami, 92-90

Use The Classifieds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio edged Miami 92-90 in double overtime with a last-second desperation scoring effort, and three Ohio teams were downed by their Michigan brethren in Wednesday night's basketball action in the Mid-American Conference.

In Athens, Ohio, Scott Love and Dave Terek combined in the second overtime of the OUMiami contest to claim the victory.

The score was tied at 75-75 at the end of regulation play and at 82-82 at the end of the first overtime.

As the end of the second overtime drew near, the score was at 90-90, Miami had possession and went into a stall near their basket.

With 10 seconds left, the Redskins moved toward the winning goal, when Love stole the ball and threw a court-length pass to Terek under the Ohio basket. Terek made the layup to take the victory with four seconds left.

It was Miami's first loss in MAC play, and left both teams with 2-1 conference records.

In Ypsilanti, Mich., Eastern Michigan scored its first MAC victory ever, a 56-55 last-minute triumph over hapless Kent State.

Kent, now 0-3 in MAC play and 2-9 overall, was looking for its first victory of the season when it took the ball toward the basket with the score tied 55-all and seven seconds left.

But EMU's Talmadge Bell stole an inbound pass and drew a foul. He sank the free throw to take the victory, the first in league play in EMU's first season with the MAC.

EMU Coach Al Freund said he was happy with the victory, but not the performance.

"That's the worst we've played in weeks," he said. "We went against the zone other night with Baylor and shot them out of it. We couldn't penetrate Kent State's zone tonight."

EMU is now 1-4 in the MAC, 6-7 overall.

In other games Central Michigan had little trouble downing Bowling Green 83-73, and Western Michigan trounced Toledo 73-56.

Central Michigan, the MAC leader at 3-0, jumped to an eight-point lead early in the game and had little trouble maintaining it. The Chippewas held a comfortable 13-point margin at halftime and continued to stretch it.

At Kalamazoo, Western held Toledo scoreless for almost eight minutes at the beginning of the second half during its romp over the Rockets.

Bowling Green slipped to 3-2 in conference play, while both Western and Michigan stand at 2-2 in the league.

In other Ohio basketball action,

Dayton held off a secondhalf rally by Eastern Kentucky and downed the Colonels 73-65, led by the 21 points of Johnny Davis.

Dayton took a 29-21 lead with five minutes to go in the first half, but Eastern rallied and trimmed the margin to three. In the second half, the fired up Colonels took a 61-58 advantage with 6:34 left, but Dayton rattled off eight straight to put the Flyers ahead for good.

Three freshman hit in double figures as Cincinnati romped to a 106-74 victory over Southern Methodist. Pat Cummings, Steve Collier and Mike Jones led Cincinnati as it bolted to a 29-9 lead and never trailed.

Phil Hahn hit 16 points to lead Case Western Reserve to its first victory of the season, a 77-50 Presidents' Conference triumph over Washington and Jefferson. Also in the conference, it was Allegheny over John Carroll, 74-71.

Gerald Walker hit 27 points to spark Gannon to a 75-67 victory over Akron. Gannon held a 36-34 halftime margin, but broke it open in the second half with a 10-point surge.

In the Ohio Conference, Wittenberg continued its role as the only OC team undefeated in league play as the Tigers downed Otterbein 78-68. Wittenberg now is 4-0 in the OC.

Also in the OC, Marietta took a 75-74 victory over Denison in overtime. Muskingum downed Ohio Wesleyan 60-51, and Mount Union beat Baldwin-Wallace 73-65.

In the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference, it was Findlay over Taylor 80-78, and Hanover over Wilmington 68-65 in overtime.

In other games, it was Ohio Dominican 80, Urbana 77; Youngstown State 112, Alliance, Pa., 62, and Central State 75, Ashland 73.

Vaunted Wolfpack Faces Terps

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — For the past three years, David Thompson and successful Maryland basketball haven't mixed.

Thompson, who carried North Carolina State to the NCAA championship last season, leads the fourth-ranked Wolfpack into Cole Field House for a nationally televised game (8 p.m., EST) against fifth-ranked Maryland.

A sellout home crowd of 14,500 will turn out for a last look at Thompson, hoping they finally get to see the Terps score a victory over State while the sensational senior is around.

The Wolfpack has whipped the Terps six straight times over the past two seasons, only once by more than six points, and Thompson has averaged 31 points a game. The two losses at home were by 86-80 and 87-85.

Maryland is 11-1 for the current season, losing only to second ranked UCLA 81-75. The Terps have twice beaten Wake Forest, which handed State its only loss in 11 starts, 83-78, ending a 36-game winning streak.

Colts Name Head Coach

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ted Marchibroda said he doesn't drink milk, and he's never been known to lick his thumb on the sidelines, but more important traits of mentor George Allen have rubbed off.

After 14 years as an assistant coach in the National Football League, the last nine under Allen, Marchibroda has signed a three-year contract as head coach of the Baltimore Colts.

"I wanted somebody who had been with a winner, who understands what it means to win," General Manager Joe Thomas said at a Wednesday news conference. "I didn't care whether he had a big name or not."

Thomas said he was impressed by the numerous recommendations received on Marchibroda's behalf, and on his record of directing the offense of nine consecutive winning teams at Los Angeles and Washington.

Although the 43-year-old Marchibroda said he had had "no great desire to become a head coach" and had never applied for such a job, he felt 14 years as an assistant was an adequate apprenticeship.

"In my first five years with Bill McPeak in Washington," he said, "I learned the X's and O's of the game, or why we do certain things."

"Under George, I learned organization, preparation, hard work, and how to handle people. I now feel comfortable taking a head coaching job."

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — "Ironside" has its last NBC performance tonight after eight seasons on the air. But Raymond Burr already has left the wheelchair he occupied as the paraplegic Chief Robert Ironside to work on other projects, including a possible new series.

He reports it feels "great, just great" to be out of the wheelchair.

"I'm not a sitter, anyway," says Burr, 57, who went directly from eight years as "Perry Mason" on TV into "Ironside," which already is in reruns, syndicated in 130 American cities by his count.

The Canadian-born actor, who began his career at 19 in Toronto, lives on a three-acre spread in the Hollywood Hills when he's working and relaxes on a copra plantation he owns on Naitaba in the Fiji Islands.

Burr, in town on business, said in a phone interview the new series he may do would be about "a particular kind of doctor." He declined to give details until he sees the script of a two-hour TV movie which could prove the pilot show for the series.

"I may not do the show if the script doesn't work out," said Burr, who has made enough loot from "Ironside" and "Perry Mason" to loaf for life if he so chooses.

Why, then, consider plunging back into the grind of a series?

"It's not a question of plunging back," the veteran actor said. "It's a question of making my plans for the next five or six years. I don't want to leave television, but I do want to limit my work in it. And now I'm in a position to ask both a network and the production company working with my company to limit the number of shows each year so that I'm only working six months of the year on television."

Burr, who said he's been toiling 10 months each year on TV in the past, said he'd use the remaining six months of his new work schedule for movie projects, business matters or simple relaxation.

Your Horoscope Tiger

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): This day may bring a challenge to your adaptability. Throw in you lot with the opposition if there is no other way to achieve your ends.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Influences, somewhat adverse now, suggest that you avoid antagonizing others. If necessary to assert your views during discussion, do so dispassionately.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You now have a chance to create a truly great impression of yourself. Don't lose out by flouting convention or being otherwise indiscreet.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): A day for listening! Something hinted at will be of more importance than what is actually said; may put your thoughts on an entirely new track.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A bit of daring could pay off now. Don't hesitate to try unique ideas, methods. You're thinking along the right lines.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Objectivity and a strong sense of realism needed. Don't look for much cooperation from others and don't count on luck to see you through day's ups and downs.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): If you don't get all the cooperation you expected, don't worry about it. Try working things out another way—quite possibly with better results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Don't run with the conformists now. A little daring could pay off—which usually pleases those born in the Sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Caution urged in financial matters. In all spending, keep one eye on reserves. Don't deplete them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Saturn auspicious. You have fine opportunities to advance, so seek them out and don't sit mooning while others take their place in the sun.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Some changing situations. Be alert, ready to take prompt action, and be guided by procedures which have proved successful in the past.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Meet as many people as you can now—studying them objectively and listening to all points of view. You will not only enjoy the contacts, but widen your mental horizons considerably.

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with a fine intellect and are willing to put your mental abilities to good tests. Because you recognize advantages and some "way out" suggestions as sound methods for future use, you can leap ahead in surprising ways and areas. You rarely waste time or motion; it is normal for you to have several irons in the fire at a time. Just don't overtax yourself or think you can go on forever without rest. A pastime which stimulates the mind and spirit is healthy for you even though your regular work days are stimulating. You are logical, practical, artistic; can cut red tape smartly. Birthdate of: Benjamin Franklin, early Amer. statesman diplomat, scientist, writer; Pope Pius V; David Lloyd George, Brit. statesman; Joe Frazier, Amer. pugilist.

Guests at the meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Reid of Star Grange, delegates at the last session of the Ohio State Grange. Reid reported on the deliberations of the annual meeting.

During the business session conducted by Worthy Master Edward Crites, officers responded to roll call with their wedding dates.

The grange voted to serve the canteen at the Feb. 18 Red Cross Bloodmobile visit. Crites reported on the Pickaway County Grange Youth Conference held Dec. 28.

Nebraska Grange will host the Pickaway County Pomona Grange Feb. 1 at the 4-H and Grange Building at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

Indian Guide, Princess Week Planned Jan. 19-26

Harold Hewitt, YMCA Director, announces Jan. 19-26 as National YMCA Indian Guide-Indian Princess Week.

Indian Guides and Princesses provide opportunities for dads to be active with their sons and daughters in small groups known as tribes.

Its purpose is to multiply the number of things that fathers can do with their sons and daughters, such as camping, cookouts, crafts, hiking, stories, games and hobbies.

The program also encourages young people to turn to their dads for guidance and reassurance, a practice that often continues for the remainder of their lives. "No boy, girl or father can attend a meeting by themselves", says Hewitt, "for the program tries to foster togetherness and participation".

"Boys and girls develop self-reliance", comments Hewitt "and dads learn the value of taking time to be a real pal to their sons and daughters".

Boys and girls six through nine-years of age can belong with their fathers. Tribes meet in homes usually with six to nine families. There are 12 Indian Guide tribes and three Indian Princess tribes active locally, which involves approximately 225 people.

Some of the activities will include poster contests, craft displays in 15 local business establishments, and conclude with a Pancake Breakfast Jan. 26.

There will be an organizational meeting for prospective Indian Guides and Princesses Jan. 23 at 7 p.m. at the YMCA. Additional information may be obtained by calling the YMCA at 474-8621.
